WE NOMINATE

John Turkevich, a brilliant and highly articulate scientist and probably this country's most knowledgable authority when it comes to evaluating the present state of Russian science. During this "atomic month of August," marking the 20th anniversary of Albert Einstein's historic letter to President Roosevelt and the 20th anniversary of the birth of the Atomic Age over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the 58-year old Turkevich's most recent publication, "Soviet Men of Science," has been attracting wide attention as still another world disarmament conference, with the U.S. and Russia the central characters, assembles in Geneva.

Prepared under a grant from the National Science Foundation and published by the Princeton-based firm of D. Van Nostrand, Inc., Turkevich's remarkable compendium, which brings together biographic sketches of some 400 Soviet physical and biological scientists, culminates two decades of effort to "break down existing barriers to an understanding of Soviet science." While the "linguistic curtain" between Moscow and the West is being more and more effectively pierced, it is Turkevich's contention that the shrouds of secrecy screening even publishing materials in the Soviet Union must be pulled aside to facilitate more individual-to-individual contact in science.

In the same intense, and yet ebullient, way in which he approaches his avocation of Russian science, this Russian-speaking native of Minneapolis, the son of a distinguished leader of the Russian Orthodox Church in this country, has established himself as a top-flight physical chemist, an adviser to government and industry, and an inspiring teacher. He has pioneered new methods of research, ranging from the use of the electron microscope to the application of magnetic resonance techniques to his investigations of catalysis, but he thoroughly enjoys describing himself, in reply to what-do-you-do questions, as "a teacher of freshman chemistry at Princeton."

Turkevich, a veteran of U.S. diplomatic missions and adviser to American delegations to international scientific conferences, is not averse to speaking his mind in areas as widely separated as basic science and intercollegiate football. "The human race is not alone in the universe," he declared this past spring. "It's possible, and I think almost certain, that others sent out their wisdom through space millions of years ago. I think we have all of this information all around us—if we only knew how to tune in on it." He foresees the day when ability to control the weather will force nations to work together on schedules of rain and sunshine.

The originator of the post-World War II "pool for Russian scientific translations" and for years editor with his wife, a well-known member of the Rutgers Faculty, of the "Guide to Russian Scientific Literature," he was graduated from Dartmouth with the Class of 1928. He taught for three years in Hanover, took his doctorate at Princeton and joined the Department of Chemistry in 1936 after completing research in England and Germany. He was advanced to a full professorship in 1952 and in 1957 was named first incumbent of the Higgins Professorship in Chemistry.

For not hesitating to take a bold look at the future of science and technology; for insisting that "truth, beauty and virtue" are inherent in all creative work and are never the exclusive property of either the scientist or the humanist; for seeking to build bridges of understanding between West and East; he is our nominee as

"DEAR EDITOR"

The Customers Always Write. Rarely have two highly controversial issues confronted the Princeton public in the summertime of other years, but in 1965, fluoridation of the water supply and merger of the school systems had the community buzzing. As bad been the case a dozen years ago, when consolidation was being hotly debated, and in the Presidential campaign of 1960 and 1964, tempers occasionally ran high.

In recent issues of TOWN TOPICS, Mark M. Jones has threatened the Princeton Water Co. with a suit for damages if his family is adversely affected by fluoridation, and Samuel G. Frantz has likened the decision enforcing the use of fluorides to the policies enacted during the Fascist regimes in Italy and Germany. This week, one of the letters to TOWN TOPICS' Mailbox terms Mr. Frantz's views "extremist" and "inflammatory."

Other letters supporting both sides of the question appear, as do views both for and against school merger. An unrelated incident receiving attention is a playground accident last week to an 8-year old boy.

TOWN TOPICS, as always, welcomes letters but must preserve a proper volume of space for the myriad other facets of community news by continuing its policy of promising to print only 500 words on any subject of community interest. All correspondents are requested to sign their letters for publication.

This week, these were among the thoughts of the people of Princetoo:

Credit Where It's Due.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to add a small note of recognition to your report (Town Topics July 29) of little Eddie Volz's fall on the Princeton High School playground last week.

Your story states that the two patrolmen administered emergency first aid to the boy. I think it should be mentioned that Mr. Norman Van Arsdalen, Director of Physical Education in the Township schools and tennis instructor in the Princeton Community Tennis Program, was the first to aid the boy.

Mr. Van Arsdalen, having been told of the accident, rushed to the boy's side, comforted him, and gave him what first aid he could with the medical kit he always carries in his car. It was not until after Mr. Van Arsdalen had finished administering first aid to the boy that the police and ambulance arrived.

We, the Princeton community, should count ourselves lucky that such a quick thinking, quick acting man lives among us.

KEN KLOTHEN

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have a clarification to make in relation to the story about Eddie Volz and his injured knee. Credit for giving Eddie immediate first aid on the spot should go to Norman Van Arsdalen.

There were four of us giving tennis instruction at the high school at the time. One of the Junior Leaders saw Eddie fall and everyone on the courts heard him screaming.

Mr. Van," the tenols instructor, ran to see if Eddie was all right. Moments later he yelled at us to get his first aid kit. Two Junior Leaders ran to his car to get it and lugged it back to where he and Eddie were. "Mr. Van" immediately applied first aid to Eddie's knee and was still holding the gauze to stop the flow of blood and keep the skin flaps together when the police arrived.

High-Class Folks Don't Fight.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The central question of the fluoridation issue is the safety of the chemicals involved to the people who use them. Those who are in favor of fluoridation point out that there is no evidence of any toxic effect of the recommended level of sodium fluoride in drinking water.

This may or may not be the case, but if the evidence does not exist then the fact that it does not exist is beside the point. Sodium fluoride does not have human rights; it is not innocent until proven guilty. Since sodium fluoride is a poison it should be exhaustively proven to be totally and absolutely safe at the recommended levels used in drinking water. It has not been so proven.

The evidential proof of the safety of fluoridation is advanced by two letter writers in the July 29 issue of Town Topics: Mr. Vreeland and Mr. Meyer. Mr. Vreeland says that since there is no evidence of the harmful effects of fluoridation then fluoridation is OK, thus illogically equating facts with our perception of them.

He goes on to say that "of course fluorides are toxic when used in excess, but so is table salt." Or vinegar or vitamin A for that matter. But because a nutrient is toxic at high levels of intake does not mean that a poison is safe at low levels. It is a tricky argument but it is no good.

I think Mr. Meyer's letter is the insidious one, because it is so annoyingly righteous: quoting as he does the ubiquitous "experts." Anyone with any knowledge of history has seen the experts lined up solidly on the wrong side too often. But with them behind him, he says gradly "let us accept fluoridation with the open-mindedness and dignity that befits a town of this caliber."

In other words, us high-class folks don't fight back. That "dignity" is a hollow rationalization for passivity. In fact, I should think that the people of a "town of this caliber" should have the nerve and sense to think out this issue for themselves and take sides.

of the kind of emotionalism that has made the issue of fluoridation so difficult to discuss rationally.

To equate fluoridation with Nazi poison gas chambers is not only entirely fallacious and misleading, but forms an extremist and inflammatory comparison. In any case, analogies are not the issue. The real question is whether the addition of fluorides to the drinking water will improve our children's teeth without impairing their health or ours.

In July, 1961, Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under President Eisenhower, wrote:

More than 30 years of scientific research has proved that fluoridated water drunk from infancy, prevents two out of every three cavities in children's teeth and, moreover, that it continues to be effective through life.

Controlled fluoridation does not mean adding a foreign substance to water. All water contains some fluoride. Even water containing as much as eight times the amount of fluoride recommended for the prevention of tooth decay does not injure a person's health.

The American Medical Association has stated that in the 1,393 references in the literature on the subject, there is no evidence that fluoridation is in any way harmful.

We should remember that our drinking water, in any event, is not untouched rain water. Chemicals, including the sister element chlorine, are added to protect the consumer by purifying the water. These chemicals are added under controlled conditions with appropriate safeguards. The American Dental Association explains in one of their publications that the mechanics of fluoridation are no more involved than those of water purification. The machinery and equipment commonly used in water plants are easily adapted. The fear that there is danger of mishap has been shown by experts to be groundless.

Fluoridation has received the unqualified approval of The American Dental Association, The American Medical Association, The U. S. Public Health Service and the American Association for the Advancement of Science — all in the major health organizations and many scientific organizations. Information derived from long scientific research is available to anyone who wishes to write The American Dental Association, 222 East Superior Street, Chicago, Ill.

Let us not cheat our younger generations out of strong healthy teeth because we refuse to judge fluoridation, calmly and coolly, on the basis of facts and figures.

Points Against Fluoridation.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Before Princeton parents rejoice over the benefits of fluoridated water, it seems prudently appropriate to submit for their consideration a few of the many reasons why this mass medication is viewed with skepticism on up to grave alarm. If there is any one point I wish to emphasize, it is that this form of treatment is still so subject to controversy that it conveys inherent hazards. I illustrate this claim by calling attention to a 1951 hearing in which U.S. Public Health Service officials were compelled to admit that their department had made studies restricted wholly to the effect of fluorides on children's teeth and not concerning itself with any effect on adults, all the while endorsing water treatment. For the sake of brevity I now resort to point form.

1. Sodium fluoride, used in artificial water treatment, is 85% more toxic than the calcium fluoride found in nature and is therefore not to be equated in its use.

2. To get the recommended dosage each child must drink an improbable one quart a day, while many adults and certainly diabetics will consume more.

3 Mottled teeth, more resistent to onset of decay, often are brittle and dissolute during repair. Some fluoridated localities produce a high rate of young adults requiring dentures.

4 At an estimated usage of less than 1% water for drinking purposes, the remaining treated water is an unconscionable waste of the consumer's money.

5. Rep. A. L. Miller, Neb., has stated that the U.S. Department of Agriculture discourages any use of fluorides for brood sows. (Are pregnant women to receive less protection?)

6. One effective method for removing fluorine from water by filtering through ground bones has been developed by the Arizona Ag Experimental Station, based on the fact that fluorine has an affinity for bone calcium. (One might well remember he has 206 bones, not just 32 teeth.)

7. Bones of old animals always contain more fluorine than bones of young animals, which signifies that this element is a cumulative poison, often, it is thought, selecting vital organs as sites of deposit. Tolerance varies among individuals so greatly that some people may store up 100 times as much as other people. In particular hazard might be pregnant women, whose kidneys are already overloaded.

8. Sodium fluoride at 1 ppm. is so corrosive that it damages

PRO & CON

On Integration Plans. Can the Borough and Township school boards bind a regional board to a specific plan for integrating the school children?

A number of Borough residents have asked for a plan before they vote in the October 7 referendum. The board has decided 5-2 to put the matter up to the regional board.

"A plan would not be binding in a legal sense," William Miller, Borough school's attorney, says. "Whether it would be binding in a moral or political sense would be up to the regional board.

"The only decision that you can predict is the first school budget, which would be the sum of the budgets of the two districts."

Gordon D. Griffin, attorney for the Township school board, agrees with Mr. Miller. "The school referendum does nothing but authorize the two boards to form a regional board and states on what financial basis. It doesn't go any further."

Another attorney and former member of the Borough Board of Education, Bryan V. Moore, told Town Topics. "I have not looked into the legal end of it. But when I was on the board, we were asked to consider regionalization from three aspects: education, finance and integration.

"They have not done the third thing . . . they haven't given us the integration aspect. They say they'll leave this up to the regional board. As I look at it, they are only giving us two-thirds.

"Whether they can actually bind the regional board, I don't know, but the regional board would give a definite plan great consideration . . ."

Eric Groeninger, assistant commissioner of education, answered the question this way, "Certainly not! One board cannot bind next year's board or five years from now. This is a matter that is left to the discretionary authority of the new board. . . It is well established as a legal principle a board of education is not a continuous body. Every board is a new board. It is not bound by the acts of its predecessors, except in instances which the law permits, such as putting teachers on tenure, or a four-year contract for transportation—which binds the next three boards.

lost any more control than they have right now I don't see that anything changes at all." He noted that residents can make their opinion known to a regional board in the same way they have to their local board, adding that he knew of no regionalization of schools throughout the state which incorporated a specific plan in the referendum.

Going farther afield, administrators of the two municipalities were questioned. "You cannot bind a future board to follow a plan or policy that you have set up," Robert F. Mooney of the Borough says "Council may be deciding to take a certain action, and I'll bring up that Council of 1964 decided such and such. They will say, 'Well, times have changed.'"

Joseph Nini of the Township adds, "The only exception is in matters of contractural nature."

PROTEST HEARD

On Fluoridation. An unscheduled item, fluoridation, took up most of the Township Committee meeting on Monday.

Among those appearing to protest were Samuel G. Frantz of 64 Battle Road; Mrs. Sterling H. Anders, 601 Lake Drive; Mark M. Jones, 159 Library Place; Mrs. Arthur Beddoe, Kingston Road, and Mrs. Marion Leon, Drakes Corner Road.

"We consider fluoridation an unsafe measure," Mrs. Leon told Committee. Mrs. Beddoe requested public hearings and a "cease and desist" order on the Princeton Water Company.

Mr. Jones, stating that he had come for information, asked if the fluoridation decision had originated in the Township. He was told by Administrator Joseph Nini that it originated with the Township Board of Health, with confirmation by the Borough Board of Health, as he understood it.

"It was never brought to the Township Committee, nor was it discussed with the Township Committee," he said, adding "the boards of health are autonomous bodies under state law. I believe the Board of Health can make a recommendation to the water company, but they cannot force the water company to carry it out."

plumbing facilities. Countrywide, water engineers report corroded equipment and the "fall out" of fluoride deposits in the system, also certifying that 1 ppm cannot be maintained.

9. In Bauxite, Ark., three years after giving up fluoridation, there was enough fluoride in the pipe system to cause mottled teeth in some children

10. Spanish, French and Japanese studies indicate a higher incident of mooth infections, rheumatoid arthritis, rheumatism, and goiter and thyroid malfunctioning in fluoridated communities. Integration Defined.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

"INTEGRATE 1. to form into a whole; unite 2. to end the segregation of and bring into common and equal membership in society, individuals of different groups." (Webster)

If this broader definition of the word INTEGRATE could be used by the people who still oppose the unification of Princeton school systems, it would be a more honest opposition

It is difficult to reconcile their strong concern for racial integration with their grave doubts and fears regarding the unification or integration of all of the children in Princeton, regardless of race.

Isn't it more reasonable to view school merger in the more positive light of gaining the best of both systems for every child in this relatively small community?

BILLY H. LOYE
38 Hawthorne Avenue

Pig in a Poke Unwanted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish to point out certain facts to Borough citizens before they vote to create a single Board of Education for Princeton Borough and Princeton Township.

(1) The legal term for the proposal is Regionalization. The proponents' word is Merger. The real name is Consolidation, since only two communities are involved — Princeton's Borough and Township.

(2) The decision is irrevocable. If the proposal wins by a single vote, the new Board can never be dissolved, as Mr. Miller pointed out at the Borough School Board meeting on July 27, 1965, the Borough, although initially in control will lose all control by 1972 ("Public Education in Princeton — known as the "Blue Book," March 1965 pp. 60 and 65).

(3) Citizens are voting for a Board, not a plan, and will never have an opportunity to reject the new Board's solution. The new Board will select the plan and will have complete authority ("Blue Book" p.59). Borough citizens will lose the full use of the still uncompleted John Witherspoon School ("Blue Book" p.66).

(4) Any plan will automatically end the "Princeton Plan" for solving integration. The "Princeton Plan" is recognized in the courts of states beside New Jersey's. The "Blue Book" vocabulary proves this assertion. "Our concern in this report is to achieve integration of grades one through five (p.18); "seven schools rather than three would call for a more complex system (p.85); "there would be fairly even distribution in all schools" (p.65); "it would call for some arbitrary divisions" (p.65); and "integration could be obtained in spirit and in fact" (p.63). Integration is a fact in the Borough now. The Township wishes the Borough to assume its problem which stems from its commitment to the neighborhood school theory. The neighborhood school creates the problem.

(5) To compensate for the loss of the "Princeton Plan," the new Board will use bus transportation. This method of solving integration has met with outspoken criticism, notably in New York City. Children will spend more time in travel and will be more tired, especially if they have to use more than one bus.

(6) Requiring children to attend two or even three schools ("Blue Book," p.62) rather than one (the John Witherspoon School) will limit the pride which children have when they attend one school.

(7) Under any Board, taxes will undoubtedly go up, since inflation is a part of our economy, but just how much they will go up is a matter of individual speculation and opinion. The "Blue Book" admits that some estimates are unbelievably low. As the Township and problematical in the Borough (p.51).

I believe that Princeton Borough has more to lose than to gain by Consolidation of the School Boards. I urge our citizens to vote No at the election on October 7. As a former Board member, Attorney Bryan V. Moore said at the July 27 meeting: "Let's not buy a pig in a poke."

"TAKE AS DIRECTED..."

We wonder if people know how important it is to follow those directions that are usually typed on the little labels you find on your prescriptions . . . particularly to take all the medication.

So often a patient will go to a doctor for help, receive a prescription, have it filled at Thorne's, take a little medicine, get a little relief — and then let the bottle or box lie in the medicine cabinet. With an active infection, this half-medication is not only false economy — it's asking for trouble. Just because you can't feel the pain any longer or see the inflamation doesn't mean that you have given your doctor's prescription a chance to do its full work for you. Infection can be deep-seated. Half - measures only give the infection time for a counter-attack.

TAKE THE MARRIED MEN, TOO: Commenting on President Johnson's decision to double the draft, Robert Panicaro thinks that married men should be exiled, too. The mustache? At last report it measured seven and three-quarter inches from tip to tip—and still growing. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What did you think of President Johnson's speech on Viet Nam and of his decision to double the draft?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Robert Panicaro, 192 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, barber, Durner's Barber Shop: I agree with him but I think they should take married men, too. I feel the single guy always has to bear the brunt of any call-up. I hope this means Johnson is going to do something about Viet Nam for a change and not just talk about it.

John Thompson, Eric, Pa., member of Peace Corps class at Princeton University: I was pleased with it — he's finally taken action. I not too happy about the thoughts of an expanded land war in Asia, though. I feel there could be an increase in the use of our air power. He had to double the draft because we need more men there. I give him credit for that, although I think he took action a little too late. He should have done this last fall, which he didn't, for political reasons, and we're paying for it now.

David Scott, University Place, graduate student, Department of Religion: I think it was the correct thing to do. I feel the principle that has to govern this move is if the North Viet Namese people believe we are utterly determined to fight this to the end, the psychological effect could bring the war to a shorter conclusion. We're counting on a quick reversal of the Asian mentality. Instead of lasting 10 years it might, in fact, be over by Christmas. This may be the reason behind our government's big show of resistance.

Miss Margaret Woodbridge, Carter Road, Smith College student: I go along with President Johnson's policy and agree with his reasoning — It's something that has to be done — but I hate to see all my friends shipped off.

Edward Surovell, Rocky Hill, editor for Princeton University Press: His decision to double the draft is, at best, disappointing. He seems to be more interested in increasing the war without instituting any specific reforms within the South Vietnamese government. I personally can't see any reason for continuing to fight this war the way the South Viet Nam government is. I support our intervention over there and our desire to preserve the independence of the South Viet Namese people but not the way the war is being fought.

Daniel Leard, 36 Moore Street, employee, Bell Lanchonette: The way I feel about it, I support our being in Viet Nam but I don't think they should draft them so young — guys just getting out of high school. Single guys over 20 are okay but not a kid just out of high school who faces the possibility of getting killed.

Joseph Minor, Penns Neck employee, Princeton Recreation Center: I think President Johnson was right in what he said. I support him 100 percent. It is about time some Americans woke up and realize they might have to go over there. I wish I could go myself. I'd go in a minute but they won't take me. It seems to me with all the aid and supplies we've been pouring in there it's about time we went in and did the job right. I'd like to see them end it. These little countries like Viet Nam can't support or defend themselves. We have more than enough, and I think we ought to share our wealth and our power as much as we can.

Charles Goeke, Morgan Place, student, Ottawa University, Kansas: Well, as for doubling the draft, I don't have to worry because I have a college deferment. I think we've got to do something. If we don't send troops over, the Communists will keep building up more and more and eventually take over. I think Johnson has the right idea. I can't see this peace through appeasement because you can't appease the Communists.

Alan W. Richards, 617 Princeton - Kingston Road, photographer and former member of the British Royal Air Force: I support him completely. We've committed ourselves. Apparently we've made promises and we have to be there. This has to be done if we hope to stop Communism. The only thing that disturbs me about the whole thing is this: Why do we have to do it alone? What about all our stalwart friends? What is the matter with England? What is the matter with France? What is the matter with Canada? They're our allies. They're all members of the United Nations. During World War I, everybody sang "Over There." I say we should sing a new song: "Come Over Here."

Thomas Culligan, Mountain Avenue, employee, Hill's Market: I'm not too worried about going because I'm pretty sure of getting into school. If not I'll enlist in some branch of the armed forces. I think it's a good policy to have more men ready for Viet Nam because if we back out now, the Communists will just take over.

Lee Goeke, Cherry Valley Road, construction superintendent: I wasn't too happy about it. What are we going to goin? As far as I'm concerned, we shouldn't be over there. I can't see all these young boys being sent over and being shot. I feel it's just a big waste of the taxpayer's money and of our young men.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

The Sandpiper runs through Tuesday; is better called the "Pied Piper," and the tune it's playing is Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. Enough people followed it in New York's Radio City Music Hall to make for the biggest opening week in the theatre's 33-year history.

Miss Taylor is cast as a free-living, free-loving and free-loving painter who comes in contact with a conservative-minded minister (Mr. Burton), when the law forces her to send her young son to his school rather than allow her to teach him at home. Before long they are wrapped up in an adulterous affair, against the backdrop of California's gorgeous Big Sur country.

On the surface, the picture is well handled, with both stars turning in good performances. However, it projects a ridiculous and unrealistic view of adultery, by attempting to inoculate the two principal characters, with doses of spiritual grandeur and subdued nobility. It just doesn't take. No amount of window dressing will boost this picture from the level of cheap soap opera.

MEET DAISY MAE: Jean Toner has the feminine lead in "Li'l Abner," opening Wednesday in Trenton's Theatre in the Park.

THE GARDEN

Shenandoah (now through Tuesday) is a big, colorful Civil War picture with its chief asset a masterful performance by James Stewart in the lead role.

Stewart, a widower, lives with his six sons and a daughter in Virginia, trying to remain neutral in the conflict which rages around him. He resists attempts by the South to draft his boys, even though they want to join, and by the North to buy his animals. However, the family is soon innerested in tragedies brought about by both sides.

The idea that war is hell and the innocent suffer the most has been recounted countless times for every conflict in history, but this film has done a more tasteful and convincing job than most.

NEW MUSICAL SCHEDULED

By Trenton Theatre, "Li'l Abner" will be the fourth production offered by the Trenton Theatre in the Park this season, beginning Wednesday, August 11, and running through the 17th in Cadwallader Park. Performances begin at 8:45.

Based on the characters created by Al Capp in his comic strip, the musical was written by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank, with music and lyrics by Johnny Mercer and Gene DePaul. Appearing in the cast will be Joe Flynn as Li'l Abner, Jean Toner as Daisy Mae, Gerald Peary, Colleen Smith, Joe Teti, Cindy Grauman and Kenneth Hemstead.

Tickets may be obtained by writing to Theatre in the Park, Box 7, Trenton, or at the box office for a contribution of $2 each.

PEARL BAILEY TO STAR

In Bucks County Role, Pearl Bailey will star in her first non-musical role in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which opens Monday for two weeks at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope (Pa.).

Miss Bailey will play the role of a former actress owner of ten shares of stock in a large corporation, who is con-

ART AND BOOK ANNEX

Down and Around. To enter this shop is to walk into a first edition by Edgar Allen Poe.

You start by turning into Bank Street from Nassau and walking 21 feet to a modern glass door, an incongruously modern glass door. You open it and find yourself immediately descending a steep, narrow stairway like the stair to a subterranean vault, which indeed it is.

At its foot and sharply right, you find directly in front of you a steel bank vault door from another age and time, a door with fanciful etched and chased work on the steel, but a steel vault door, none the less. Around it is a frame of silver — plated "Grecian" columns and through the door, in the anteroom of the old bank vault, you will find the first room of the new Witherspoon Art and Book Shop Annex.

It's a pleasing chamber, with a Turkish rug on the floor and an ancient hair sofa. Beyond and beyond and beyond are rooms full of books, one leading into the other and that one leading into still another, each one around the corner from the one before until you're not sure which way is back and out.

And in the final chamber, you'll find a real, working fireplace, a mellow tile floor and Witherspoon's choicest books — the rare volumes and the leather-bound ones, the reference works and the encyclopedias, oils and water-colors and charcoal sketches and perhaps as antique or two, like the charming lady's desk we saw when we were there.

In the next-to-the-last room are history books, lined against the long, long street wall. "History" for this shop includes travel, anthropology, exploration and archaeology — who knows what excitements lie on those shelves! Maybe a first edition — but that's not likely, because the shop keeps its first editions elsewhere. Anyhow, you may find something out of print you've been hunting for years.

Religion, philosophy and psychology are on the other wall, near economics and business for some abstruse reason. Good place to build shelves, probably.

Languages are in another room with fiction, juveniles and mysteries and a few paperbacks. Witherspoon Art and Book Shop does not stock paperbacks, but if the shop acquires books from an estate and paperbacks are in the lot, then paperbacks are there.

One little room in this maze has albums of 78's for you record collectors to spin your hopes on. And think what fun you'll have describing where you found your prize!

Maybe we don't have to tell you that the shop's annex is in the old vaults used by Princeton Bank and Trust before the bank moved into its new building. In case you're worried about damp and its effect on those old books — we were the shop assures us that humidity can be controlled.

Book shop hours, not banking hours: 10-5 every day, but closed on Mondays.

OLD COINS FOR JEWELS

And Tickets! One of the most exciting charm bracelets we've seen around a wrist in some time is the one worn and made by Nora Smith who with her husband, Willard Kendall Smith has moved to Princeton with a breath-taking collection of jewelry made from old coins.

The bracelet we're speaking of, as a matter of fact, is made of old theatre tickets, and if you have a picture of crumpled old McCarter stubs making a charm bracelet, you don't know charm. Or history.

These theatres tickets are big ivory discs, ovals and oblongs made during the mid-19th century as "season tickets" for box-holders of the Theatre folk have always been favorite clients of Willard Kendall Smith, coin jeweler newly moved to Princeton. Not only do actors buy bits "tickets" bracelets, they come to him when old coins are peculiarly appropriate as presentations, and it was even so with "A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum."

Zero Bimself

Half a dozen Roman coin cuff-links, similar to those described elsewhere in this column, were made by the Smiths for presentation to departing actors in the cast. And best of all, Mr. Smith found a 2,000-year-old Roman coin with a portrait which looked exactly and precisely like Zero Mostel, the "Forum" star. An early portrait, of course. A man can change in 2,000 years, after all.

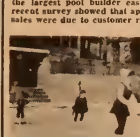
How Much Is Peace of Mind Worth? You Get It Free With A Sylvan Pool!

You can buy a cheaper pool than a Sylvan Pool — but you can't buy better. If a Sylvan Pool costs a little more, there must be a reason. There is. Built into each Sylvan Pool is peace of mind — a lifetime of peace of mind for you as a pool owner.
That's important, because a swimming pool is a purchase that a home-owner usually makes just once. And because the average homeowner has no working knowledge of swimming pool construction, he can be easily misled by false claims.
His best bet is to rely on the reputation of the pool builder, and it is a reputation for quality that has made Sylvan the largest pool builder east of the Rockies. In fact, a recent survey showed that approximately 80% of Sylvan's sales were due to customer recommendations.



Sylvan . . . The Pool For All Seasons

You should buy a pool for a lifetime, not for a summer. Sylvan Pools are built to withstand the severe winters in the Northeast; in fact, you can ice skate on any Sylvan Pool.

Royal Opera in London. You received your ticket at the beginning of the season, presumably, and showed it every time you went to hear Jenny Lind, in fact, one of Mr. Smith's tickets comes from Jenny Lind's opening in London. And another dates from Drury Lane — 1680.

Needless to say, the Smiths' shop on 54th Street in New York has always been awash with theatre people, even though hit-show tickets these days are more pure gold than ivory. (See box!)

Amusing though they are, these ivory bangles (and what a delightfully soft clicking sound they make compared to the standard charm jangle!) must stand aside for the pieces fashioned from the gold coins of Greece, Rome, the Third Empire, Austria-Hungary and even 19th-century America. One bracelet — Mrs. Smith's own — is made of four $20 gold pieces. It's so heavy you have to wear it on two hands.

And from Byzantium, there's the most exquisite drop earring, lovingly built around a coin from 1100 A.D. It has been gently curved so that its thin, worn rim quivers with every movement of the head.

The Sundance season will close the next weekend with two evenings featuring the Independent American Cinema. On Friday, August 13, several short, experimental films from the "avant - garde" repertoire will be shown, and on Saturday, films of the "underground film movement" will be presented.

gotten. Two pairs of cuff-links have been made from ancient gold coins. One pair, from the second century A.D., shows Aequitas, the Goddess of Justice, with her balances, and Concordia, Goddess of Agreement. Know a lawyer?

The second pair is Pan; anybody can claim him.

Some of the most unusual "coins" in the Smiths' collection are chips from old gambling houses. We especially like the ivory chips from Mississippi River boats — you can almost see the twirling black mustaches of the dastardly villain. One chip says "Pare Joe: Honest Gamble, 1874" and another reads, "Missouri River Mail Packet and still a third, "New Orleans Vicksburg Packet."

Gambling, of course, goes back into infinity. One token is a 500-guinea chip worth about $2,500, from the early Georgian era, and another is a French metal token — a "jetton" — from 1555.

Mr. Kendall Smith has been working with old coins for many years and has had his New York shop for about 30. One of his latest creations was a humidor presented by General Electric to Walt Disney on the first 1965 day of the New York World's Fair. Its cover is decorated with Greek and Roman coins bearing the portraits of animals.

The Smiths have decided against New York and in favor of Princeton, however, and will confer with you in their own home about the jewelry you want — perhaps a lovely anniversary gift, a presentation to some colleague, or just something lovely to wear yourself.

You may reach Mr. Smith by calling 896-0925.

boards of health," Committeeman John O. Green told the group. "I think we should rely on the expertise of the Board of Health."

Mr. Frantz commented, "I should think Princeton Water Company would be exposing itself to certain suits."

Mrs Anders asked to whom a petition for a referendum should be addressed. William L. Wilson of the Committee gine a publicly-owned water company refusing to do so, if ordered by a public board of health."

The Princeton Water Company, which had set August 1 as its target date to begin fluoridation, reported Tuesday that all of the necessary machinery has not arrived. When "We don't know. Maybe this week, maybe later."

Referendum Not Required

"I know of no law," Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson said Tuesday, "which first requires a referendum in order to fluoridate." He cited New York City as an example, which went ahead without a public vote.

"I don't think a water company has to follow any directive of a health department to fluoridate or not to fluoridate . . . I can't imagine a publicly-owned water company refusing to do so, if ordered by a public board of health."

The Princeton Water Company, which had set August 1 as its target date to begin fluoridation, reported Tuesday that all of the necessary machinery has not arrived. When "We don't know. Maybe this week, maybe later."

Laschever Report, which recommends that the regionalized board to be formed if merger is approved) determine the basic for pupil distribution. With this act," SOS charges, "they have swept the troublesome problem under the rug and have offered a meaningless choice of five plans but carefully endorsed none of them.

The statement continues: "This abdication of responsibility underlines several very vital questions. If two years of study, 25 school board members and two superintendents were not sufficient to produce a workable plan to be agreed upon and recommended to the citizenry, how can a new regionalized board be expected to do so in a few months?"

Stressing the importance of pupil distribution as second to none in an educational system, SOS charges that "the four principles" offered as a guide to pupil allotment are so vague as to be virtually without meaning. As with all platitudes, they are difficult to fault but equally difficult to define."

The committee asks the two boards of education "to reaffirm their faith in their own proposal of merger by offering a definite plan of pupil assignment to the voters before the referendum in October."

Committee chairmen named this week are Stuart Carothers, finance; Mrs. Donald West, mothers; Mrs. Robert Cook, election day workers; Mrs. Ralph Edwards, defense of the Princeton Plan; Lawrence Caruso, membership.

died in an automobile accident in which they were both involved, Postmaster Raymond F. Woolfe of Kingston was found dead in the kitchen of his Laurel Avenue home.

State Police said Mr. Woolfe had shot himself with a revolver Tuesday morning. A laundryman calling at the home found the body.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woolfe were injured on July 9 when their car, parked near the post office in Kingston, apparently slipped its brakes and rolled into them with its doors open. Mrs. Woolfe, 74, was run over and died in Princeton Hospital three hours later.

Mr. Woolfe recovered from his injuries and returned home. He had reportedly been despondent since her death. Postmaster at Kingston since 1955, he was 68 years old.

COP'S HOME IS TARGET OF Molotov Cocktail, A gasoline - filled milk bottle was set on the top step leading to the front door of the home of Borough Patrolman Charles D. Harris at 3 a.m. Saturday and then ignited. It exploded into flames which caused an undetermined amount of smoke and fire damage to the steps and front porch of Pfl. Harris' wood shingled home at 21 Hawthorne Avenue.

Awakened by the explosion, Pfl. Harris told his wife to call the police, while he grabbed his service revolver and raced to the front door. He found no one but was able to trace drips of gasoline to nearby Moore Street.

By the time fellow officers Sgt. James Kopliner and Patrolman Arthur Jackson arrived, Mr. Harris had managed to douse the flames himself with buckets of water. Neither he, his wife nor his three children asleep upstairs were injured.

"This is serious," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan. "The wood was burning, it was in a confined area and if the bottle had been placed next to the house instead of on the step, the results would have been much worse.

"So far, we've hit practically a blank wall in our investigation," Chief McCrohan continued." We have a few leads, but they are small." To aid in his department's investigation, which is being led by Detective Theodore Lewis, Chief McCrohan disclosed the police are employing assistance from outside agencies.

Took Some Daring. "As far as we have been able to ascertain," said Chief McCrohan, "only one bottle was involved. We believe it was a half-gallon bottle, stuffed with a rag." Who ever did it, it took some daring. Had some of the gas fumes escaped before it was ignited, it could have easily exploded in the person's face.

Why Harris? Past experience would indicate Mr. Harris was purposely singled out. Last October, under cover of Hallowe'en, his car was scratched and painted with obscenities. Cost to the insurance company was over $200.

One reason suggested by Chief McCrohan is that Mr. Harris "is a good cop." Perhaps too good. "Charlie keeps the kids moving whenever he sees them loitering around teenage hangouts on Nassau Street or on the wall opposite the Firestone Library," the Chief said adding, "Just as he should."

Nor is Mr. Harris averse to giving out tickets, and, inevitably, these actions must have caused him to cross swords with some of the town's chronic trouble makers. Commenting on the molotov cocktail treatment, Mr. Harris remarked: "The usual harrassment doesn't bother me, but it's too much when it gets this close to my home and family."

Mr. Harris himself attributed the incident to "the gang on the wall." He was referring to a group of teenagers who hang around the wall across from the Firestone library who have proven to be a continuous nuisance to passersby and to the police who have tried to curb them.

Complaints Are Numerous.

Police say they have received numerous complaints from residents about the noise and profane language that emanates from the habitues of the wall, but they go on in the same breath to say they are almost powerless to stop it. For one thing, according to Chief McCrohan, the grass area immediately behind the wall is private property belonging to the University. "We can't hate them, and the kids know it.

Another is that the wall itself is private property. And finally, there is nothing the police can arrest them for. "A person isn't breaking any law just by sitting on a wall," Chief McCrohan pointed out. Unless we can prove these boys are actually interfering with or endangering the safety of those who pass by, we can't do anything but chase them."

Presently the police can't rescue gang members unless they drift onto Nassau Street and obstruct the flow of traffic. Last year, in sort of a test case of a borough loitering ordinance, a group of boys accused of loitering on the wall were freed by the magistrate. The police have not tried for a similar conviction since.

What About a Curfew?

The question of a possible curfew was discussed independently Tuesday morning by both Mayor Henry Patterson and Chief McCrohan at their press conferences. Chief McCrohan pointed out that a borough ordinance dated 1918 and amended in 1929 and in 1943 covering children on the streets unaccompanied by parents or guardians is already on the books. But its main drawback, in Chief McCrohan's opinion, is that it covers only those 16 and under. The ordinance requires children without permit cards to be off the streets by 10 in the summer and 9:30 the rest of the year.

Basically, it is unwieldy and unenforceable, according to Chief McCrohan. "I've talked this issue of curfew over with other chiefs," he said, "and it hasn't worked well in other towns. A curfew isn't the solution."

Mayor Patterson agreed, in discussing the Harris incident. Said he, "I think a curfew would be too severe a police measure for a problem that may appear to be worse than it actually is," I think," he added, "if you look over the list of juvenile court cases you will find that most of our trouble can be traced to a small group of chronic offenders."

Mayor Patterson went on to indicate that in many cases parents have abrogated their responsibility toward their children. "Parents say to me 'Look, he's 18; I can't control him. And they throw the responsibility of behavior at the Borough. Now if it's going to be our job to make every 18-year-old behave we'd have to triple our police force."

FOUR RECEIVE SCRAPES

When Brakes Fail, Four Princeton youths were treated for assorted abrasions and scrapes at Princeton Hospital and released Monday, following a single car accident at Witherspoon and Terhune Road behind the Township garage. The mishap occurred at 11:20 p.m.

They are Donald R. Zubec, 21, 70 William Street, driver of the car, Thomas Maurer, 20, 31 Wheatsheaf Lane, Odgen Montgomery, 17, 14 Dickenson Street, and Anthony Boccardusy, 19, 175 Linden Lane.

Mr. Zuber told police he applied his brakes as he approached the foot of Terhune but his car would not stop even after pumping them. His car shot across the road, uprooted a small tree and came to rest against a larger tree. The entire front end, door and steering wheel of the 1956 sedan were damaged.

Last week Douglas A. Snook, 22, of Trenton, was charged with careless driving by Township Patrolman Howard Sweeney, after his car left Quaker Road.

Mr. Snook told police an oncoming car forced him off the road where he knocked down about 150 feet of a barbed wire fence bordering a farm, considerably damaging the front end and left side of his car. He was not injured, police said.

The same day—Wednesday—two cars collided with considerable impact at the intersection of Western Way and Broadmead.

Involved were Mario A. Petrecca, 32, 49 Erdman Avenue, driving west on Western Way, and Frank Allen, 82, of Trenton, traveling south on Broadmead. There were no visible injuries to either driver, according to the police, but they added Mr. Allen complained of pains.

The cars collided in the middle of the intersection, where Mr. Allen's 1953 car stayed. The second car however proceeded out of control and ran over the curb, continuing on some 50 feet on property belonging to the University.

Mr. Allen was ticketed for failing to observe a stop sign. Police quoted one witness as saying that Mr. Allen "didn't slow down at all for the stop sign on Broadmead until his rear wheels were even with the sign."

"I COULDN'T SLEEP AT NIGHT," Ernest D'Andrea of 28 Hillside Road said of the proposed ordinance changing Hillside Road to Loomis Court at the Township Committee meeting on Monday.

Topics Of The Town

COMMITTEE CONCEDES

One-Man Army Wins. Ernest D'Andrea of 28 Hillside Road completed two weeks of intensive activity Monday by defeating a Township ordinance which would change the name of his street.

His street is 660-ft long, contains eight houses, with a ninth under construction, and leads into Loomis Court directly across Walnut Lane. But it has been known as Hillside Road for more than 30 years, and Mr. D'Andrea has lived there most of his life.

The Traffic Safety Committee suggested the name change to Loomis Court, to expedite emergency calls, and to avoid confusion with Hillside Avenue. Mr. D'Andrea polled firemen, police and postal employees, reporting to Committee that "there's no confusion or delay in emergencies." He undertook a 12-hour drive to the E. Providence home of the widow of Robert Loomis for whom the court is named. She sent a letter protesting the change to the Township Committee. He got his neighbors to sign a petition, and they turned out in full for the committee hearing.

"I voted for the introduction of this ordinance," said Russell Mount of the Committee, "but in view of the strong objections here tonight, I am changing my vote. Mayor Schafer noted that "it is not clear that the residents are being served by this ordinance." Mr. D'Andrea thanked Committee for dropping the ordinance and went home to get a little rest.

Dr. Nathaniel H. Furman, 73, 19 South Stanworth Drive, Russell Moore Professor of Chemistry Emeritus at Princeton, who made important contributions to the atomic bomb project during World War II, died August 2 in Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, Vt., after a long illness. He made his summer home in Charlotte, Vermont.

A native of Lawrenceville, Dr. Furman graduated from Princeton in 1913, and also received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees here. He served in the chemical warfare service during World War I, and joined the Princeton faculty in 1919. He retired to emeritus status in 1969.

Named to the Moore Professorship in 1945, Dr. Furman served as chairman of the chemistry department from 1951 to 1954. His field of research was analytical chemistry, particularly modern physico - chemical methods.

Dr. Furman made outstanding contributions in the development of electrometric techniques in chemical analysis and also developed a new method for estimating traces of metal in various substances. During the war, he discovered techniques for the preparation of materials required in the atomic bomb, notably sampling and analysis in the production of pure uranium metal.

In 1938 he was designated first recipient of the Fisher Award in Analytical Chemistry, highest honor that can be conferred in that field. In 1953, he received the Palladium Medal of the Electrochemical Society, awarded for outstanding contributions in analytical chemistry, notably for his successful adaptation of electrochemical principles to the development of new methods and techniques of chemical analysis.

Dr. Furman was elected president of the American Chemical Society in 1950. A member of several professional societies, he was the author of five books on chemical analysis and a contributor to many scientific journals.

He is survived by his wife, Hannah Hendrickson Furman, a son, Richard H. of New York City, a daughter, Mrs. Samuel Kirkwood of St. Paul, Minn., and four grandchildren. A memorial service was held in the Charlotte Congregational Church One in the University Chapel is planned for a later date.

HOW TO BUILD YOUR OWN WINE CELLAR AT HOME

No. 4. In A Series

Collecting wines and building your own cellar at home can be one of the most satisfying and enjoyable of hobbies. Unlike a stamp collection, however, wines are a living thing and not only do you have the pleasure of reviewing your "collection" from time to time, but you have the delight of consuming it as well.

The thing to do is to start with a few bottles and then, as you try other wines and find some you like especially well, add to your collection until, in a surprisingly short time, you will have quite a respectable cellar.

Generally, white wines do not require extensive aging and they are at their best when young. Red wines, on the other hand, improve with age and keeping them until their proper time can greatly enhance their character. It is unfortunate that the demand for good vintages often means many are consumed before they have reached their true heights.

Thus, your cellar should concentrate more heavily on reds. A smart collector can tell when the new vintage is first available and by holding the wine himself for, say, five years, see the value of his cellar increase substantially.

Wine does not take a great deal of space, unless you are considering a really great cellar. But there are several factors which should be remembered if you are to get full enjoyment out of your precious bottles when they are opened.

First, store your wine where there is not much variation in temperature. It would be better to store your wine in a room which was constantly at, say, 70° F. than in an unheated room which would be cold in winter months and hot in summer. Ideally, the temperature should be about 50° F. White wines need the coolest spot so they are usually stored at the bottom, closest to the floor.

Second, never expose your bottles to sunlight. The sun's rays can quickly "turn" a wine and this is why, unlike some other wine retailers, we never display wine in our windows, nor store it on shelves where sunlight can reach it.

Third, store the wine on its side so that the cork is kept moist. Keep the label face up so that you can make your selection without disturbing the other bottles. Avoid any unnecessary handling or shaking of the wine.

For most people, the convenient spot for their cellar is the basement. But be sure the wine is stored at the greatest possible distance from the heating plant. Oftentimes, a room upstairs, perhaps at the "cool" end of the house, is far better.

As your collection expands. It's wise to keep some kind of record of your purchases and when you open a bottle, you can make notes on whether or not the wine should be re-ordered.

We would be delighted to consult with you on establishing your own cellar from a very modest 3 or 4 bottle start to the traditional "laying down a pipe" (57 dozen bottles).

Here are several selections of mixed cases, any one of which will get you off to a very good start.

COX WINS APPROVAL

For Frontage Variance. Voting 3-1, the Borough Zoning Board in a special meeting Thursday granted James A. Cox a Nassau Street frontage variance. It was the first exception to a zoning amendment passed in September, 1963, which required all commercial properties on Nassau Street to have a front yard of at least 10 feet or a setback consistent with that of neighboring buildings.

Specifically, the board allowed Mr. Cox to build a new store at 180 Nassau adjacent to the one he owns at 182 Nassau, with a setback of one foot from the front line instead of 10. Mr. Cox, in presenting his case, said the new store front would be in line with that of his present store and those of stores to the west.

The lot in question, measuring 44 by 113 feet, is located between Cox's present store and an alley to the Park Place parking lot. In pleading a hardship, Mr. Cox pointed out the lot was so small that any setback would reduce the square footage of any proposed building to the point where it would be impractical to build.

In two other decisions, the board granted Brune Interiors of 247 Nassau Street permission to erect a sign above the roof line, and said "yes" to Maurice Watson of 39 Murray Place, who sought a variance to lengthen his garage 14 inches.

Boy Magazines from PTA

The Princeton High School PTA asks all those who plan to buy magazine subscriptions to order through it.

This is the only source of funds for the PTA scholarships given to Princeton High graduates. The PTA points out that it not only handles all subscriptions at no extra cost, but also includes all the special offers that the magazines are currently promoting through telephone solicitations. Further information may be obtained through Mrs. Edward Eicher at 921-2687.

MORVEN FILM AVAILABLE

For Group Showings. A 60-minute film on Morven, the Governor's residence, is now available for group showing from the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development. Only a small fee for mailing is charged.

Produced for television a year ago by Philadelphia TV station, WCAU-TV, the pictures and commentary give an intimate glimpse into the Colonial history of the house and its modern uses as an official residence. Morven was built in 1701 by Richard Stockton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and used as a private home by many distinguished people until 1944, when Governor Walter E. Edge deeded it to the state.

Requests for the film should be sent to Public Information Office, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Trenton.

INTEREST RATE RAISED

By Princeton Bank & Trust. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company has raised the rates of interest to savings depositors to the maximum permitted by New Jersey law.

Regular pass-book depositors will receive interest at the rate of 4% per annum compounded quarterly from July 1, 1965, and purchasers of the bank's one-year savings certificates of $100 to $10,000 will be paid 4½% annually from date of deposit. In announcing the increases, George B. Cook, III, chairman of the board, said, "Our new rate of 4% on regular savings is equal to that currently offered by any commercial bank or savings and loan association in central New Jersey, and our 4½% rate on certificates is unmatched."

PEOPLE In The News

David Dodge, Brunswick Pike, has just had his latest book, "The Poor Man's Guide to the Orient," published by Simon and Schuster, Inc. Author of numerous books (eight of travel and 12 novels, including "To Catch a Thief"), Mr. Dodge has also written several articles for national magazines.

Before turning to free-lance writing after World War II, Mr. Dodge had taken a short hitch in the merchant marine, worked as a certified public accountant, and served in the Navy for three years during the war. Since 1945, he and his wife, accompanied by their daughters, have lived in and traveled extensively in Mexico, Central and South America, the Caribbean Islands, Europe and Africa. He has also written "The Poor Man's Guide to Europe," and "The Rich Man's Guide to the Riviera."

As he says in the preface, the book is not a "skinflint's guide." "It does not recommend or suggest Oriental tours on the rods, on the hoof, by thumb at a total cost of five dollars a day." He has written instead, "for the person with enough of a bankroll to make its defense worthwhile." "Nobody has to haggle a price in the Orient if he doesn't want to and can afford to," comments Mr. Dodge. "But the Orient, by and large, enjoys and profits and lives by haggling. The aim of this book is to give its readers the means and knowledge to haggle back."

Mr. Hilburt, who also came to the University from Hogate's, has been with Food Services since 1960. He has had responsibility for the catering division and of the Wilcox Hall dining room, as well as assisting in the planning for new operations.

Person To Person

Cary S. Kammler

Believe it or not, we were told that there is evidence of a glass house built in Iraq about 2,500 B.C. They found a glass block which might have been used to it. The beginning of man's use of glass is lost in antiquity, probably in Mesopotamia, or Egypt. Glass beads from about 3,500 B. C. and other glass objects from 3,000 B.C. were dug up in Egypt, and about 1500 B. C. the Egyptians evolved a technique for making small glass bottles. A piece of sheet glass 44 by 32 inches was found in the ruins of Pompeii, and use of glass for windows apparently dates from the first century, A. D. When we hear of these ancient records we are reminded once again to remind you that with the most modern equipment we still operate by most old-fashioned scruples. The result is great satisfaction and bargain savings for you!

Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

Eric M. Heggen, 94 Spruce Street, an agent for the Equitable Life Insurance Society, has been cited for leading his agency in production credits for the month of June. Mr. Heggen, who is a special representative for the Robert L. Wenzlaff Agency in New York, led the agency's honor club for the first six months of this year.

ERC BEATS McGRAW-HILL

Moving To First Place, Engineering Research nipped second place McGraw - Hill Warehouse, 10 to 9, and moved one step closer last week to clinching first place in the eastern division of the Business Softball League.

Educational Testing went into the week as the only team with a chance to beat out ERC for first. It had three games left in the regular schedule, and one that was to be partly replayed with ERC. Both McGraw - Hill Warehouse and RCA 2 have a chance to tie for first if they win all their remaining games.

Carl Valenti picked up the win for ERC, aided by Vince Grazinda's homer and double, Bob Easton's brace of doubles, and two hits apiece by Don Machusak and Roger Cole. Joe Dey, Les Owens, Pete Fields and Lou Dellenbach all had two hits for the Warehouse.

In the western division, RCA 1 moved a half game ahead of idle Accelerator, by defeating McGraw - Hill Office, 11 to 6. Jim Clark and John Hughes both had two hits, including a four bagger and three RBIs each, and Ed Lopatin went three for four. The keystone combination of Hughes and Lopatin combined for seven putouts and eight assists, while pitcher Wally Reichert won his seventh game against two losses.

American Cyanamid kept its hopes alive for catching the leaders with a 6-3 victory over Columbian Carbon. Losing pitcher Ted Cader had a shutout going until the sixth inning, when Cynamid broke into the scoring column. Bob Messersmith drove in the winning runs with a double, and winning pitcher John Anderson and Dick Kessler both had three hits.

ETS scored four runs in the bottom of the fifth, and knocked off Hopewell TV, 6 to 4. Dick Schoenkopf went three for three, Paul Harmon two for three and Tony Greenwald slammed his fifth homer of the season with a man on. Bill Hoagland had two hits, one a home run, and Bob Blazer three hits in three at bats for the losers.

RCA 2 remained in contention for a possible tie for first with an 8 to 5 win at the expense of winless but spirited Opinion Research. Ed Metzger pitched well for the victory, as five men had two hits each for RCA. Bob Sylvester had a round tripper for ORC and Tom Ryan played a fine defensive game.

The disputed ERC - ETS game was scheduled to be replayed on Tuesday at the McGraw - Hill Warehouse field. Accelerator will make up its game with RCA Astro this Thursday on the latter's field, and the RCA Astro - ORC game will be held next Thursday.

Kazmaier Heads Committee

Dick Kazmaier, All-America halfback on Princeton's undefeated teams of 1950 and '51 has been named chairman of the chapters and membership committee of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

He will work toward increasing the size of the Foundation, which plans to build its Hall of Fame on the Rutgers University campus, site of the first intercollegiate football game between the Scarlet and Princeton 96 years ago. There are currently 97 Hall of Fame chapters in the United States.

Kazmaier was a finalist earlier this year for the Hall of Fame with Charlie Conerly (Mississippi) alumnus who quarterbacked the New York Giants for 14 years. Like baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., the shrine in New Brunswick will honor the accomplishments of great football players and coaches.

RCA LEADS, ETS SECOND

In Girls Softball League. With the season nearing the end, RCA is in first place and Educational Testing in second in the Princeton Research Girl's Softball League. Post-season playoffs between the first four teams are scheduled to begin next Thursday.

In action last week, Educational Testing beat the Cordialettes, 12 to 8, with Joyce Johnson and Carol Osborne hitting four baggers for the winners. Dodie Moore was the winning pitcher.

American Cynamid also defeated the Cordialettes, winning 9 to 5. Cynamid's left fielder, Helen Maddock, saved the game for Cynamid with a fine catch in the sixth inning. Marva Marciniak gained credit for the win.

First place RCA and last place McGraw - Hill were not scheduled. The remaining schedule has Cynamid at McGraw-Hill on Thursday, and McGraw-Hill vs. ORC at RCA on Monday.

decided in a sudden death overtime preceding Wednesday's usual doubleheader.

The lead seesawed. The Greeo's Phil Allen tallied three times in the first quarter to pace his team to a 3-1 bulge. Then Brice Chase and Dave Leete of the Blues combined for five goals for a 6-3 half time lead. In the next period, Sam Stewart and Bob Gordon closed the gap to one for Green, and in the final period Stewart and Allen scored again for Green and Jim Jaeger once for the Blues. Result: deadlock

In the second game, Bill Hunter scored three times as Red blanked Navy, 5-0. Pete Savidge, all-American defenseman at Rutgers, broke into the scoring column with a solo dash the entire length of the field in the last quarter. Roger Bailenlin had 13 saves to preserve his shutout.

After four weeks of play in the six-week season, Green is on top with a 2-1-1 record, followed by Red and Navy, both 2-2-0, and Blue, 1-2-1. Phil Allen of Princeton University is the leading scorer with 12 points on 12 goals and one assist. Dave Leete of Hun and Carl Burns of PHS are tied for second place with nine points each.

FROM 0 96.46 MPH

In 14.57 Seconds. Tony Nini, long - time Princeton car dealer, has entered the sport of drag racing and come up a winner from the start.

Basically, in drag racing the object is to catapult a car from a standing start and race it over a short distance faster than anyone else drivers race against the clock rather than each other.

Current king of the mountain in its class at Atco Dragway near Medford Lakes is a 1965 Barracuda Formula S, Class F stock entered by Nini Motors, Route 206. Although there can be no tampering with the basic engine displacement and horsepower — in this case 273 cubic inches and 230 H.P. — the car has been specially prepared by Dave Healy and John Tedder.

Dave, who lives at 49 Aiken Avenue and is a mechanic at Nini Motors, is one of the car's drivers. Tedder is a factory representative for the Chrysler Corporation, manufacturer of the Barracuda.

At the new Atco Dragway last week, Healy hit 96.46 miles per hour at the end of the quarter - mile track to capture the trophy run. He elasped time was 14.57 seconds. In the short time Nini Motors has been racing the car, its success has been remarkable. Says owner Tony Nini, "We've only missed getting a trophy twice."

To date, Nini has won six trophies. And as the endless adjustment of gear ratios and tinkering for perfection goes on by Healy and Tedder, Tony Nini expects to keep right on winning more trophies.

CAR AND DRIVER: Dave Healy, mechanic at Nini Motors, Route 206, stands beside the 1965 Barracuda that he and a factory representative from Chrysler Corporation have perfected for stock car drag racing. Although Dave has been racing the car only two months, his success is reflected by the six trophies he has won. (Story this page.)

VOGEL LEADS IN GOLF

In ORC Tournament. Al Vogel shot a net 67 in the fourth round of the Opnion Research Golf Tournament to take a three-stroke lead over Mike DeSanna.

The match was staged at the Princeton Country Club in West Windsor. Vogel's 72- hole total is 268, compared to 301 for DeSanna.

John Lasley won a prize for the highest score on one hole, managing 17 strokes before he finished number 13. High gross "honors" went to Hank Harper with a 146 for 18 holes.

GERBER TREATS BOYS

To Baseball Game. Louis Gerber of Edgerstoune Road, former Township Magistrate, treated 50 boys from the Police Baseball League last week to a major league game between the Phillies and Mets at Connie Mack Stadium. It was the eighth annual such trip that Mr. Gerber has sponsored for youthful members of the PBA league at his expense.

The trip was under the direction of Patrolmen Anthony Ranfone and Arthur Jackson. Chaperones were Patrolmen Russell Shangle and David Potts, and Bill Gordon, assistant director of the Police Baseball School.

Speaking of Mr. Gerber, known as the "Good Judge" by the boys, Sgt. Jack Petrone of the Township Police had this to say: "I have been fortunate to have been able to make several of these trips with the 'Good Judge' and the boys. He enjoys every minute of this day. The people of Princeton should feel privileged to have as one of their citizens a man who grows old in age but stays so young in heart when it comes to children."

In YMCA Junior Baseball. With just one week remaining in the YMCA Junior Baseball League, the crucial game to decide first place will be played Thursday between Bowers and Nassau Oil. Currently Bowers is in first place with a 7-2-1 record, a game ahead of Nassau Oil, at 6-3-1.

In action last week, Nassau Oil won the game it had to when it defeated Bowers behind the shutout pitching of Carmelo Mauro. The score was 3-0. Two days later, Nassau pushed Matthews deeper in the cellar with a 13-3 trouncing.

In other contests Bowers rebounded from its Nassau Oil defeat with a 14-8 triumph over Water Company which, in turn, blanked Matthews, 3-0. Winning pitchers for Bowers and Water Company were Bob McCloskey and Lloyd Svendsen.

In other starts, Dick Kopliner and Dave Seckel each had two hits in leading Eagles to a 11-9 verdict over Engine No. 3, despite Bob Sweeney's five hits for the losers; Billy Skillman pitched five hitless innings enroute to a 10-9 whitewash of Hook & Ladder in a game halted because of darkness; and in a battle between the tail-enders, Sportsmen outslugged Post 76, 23-14, with George Barna collecting two homers. THIEF TAKES $60

From Choir College Kitchen. At 3:48 a.m. Thursday an employee at the Westminster Choir College kitchen called police to report that a thief had broken into a filing cabinet in the office of the kitchen manager and then pried open a strong box containing approximately $60. Later, the food manager, Thomas Dellatore of Trenton, called back to report that a lady's wristwatch as well as "Letterman '57" inscribed on the back had also been taken.

Patrolman Arthur Jackson investigated. He reported that a screen over an open window in the northeast corner of the kitchen had been removed to gain entry. "This particular window is well hidden by bushes," said Chief Peter J. McCroban, who recalled that this same route of entry had been used several times in past years to rob the kitchen.

The door to the food manager's office containing the filing cabinet was locked but had been moved open, police said.

Spare Tire Taken. On Monday, Leon Christian, co-owner of Lahiere's Restaurant, called police to report that his spare tire had been removed from its rear compartment in his 1965 station wagon. His car had been parked in the Witherspoon Parking lot, a few doors down the street from the restaurant.

Sgt. James Koplinger, the investigating officer, reported that a front vent window had been forced open. Mr. Christian lives at 142 Leabrook Lane.

PRINCETON WINS ASSENT

For Parking Field. The West Windsor Planning Board has given its approval to Princeton University's plans to create a grass athletic field and parking area between Washington Road and Harrison Street, across Carnegie Lake and the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The proposal was endorsed by the West Windsor Zoning Board early in July.

The University proposes to use the 40-acre field for intramural athletic activities, and as a parking area for cars during football games. In presenting the proposal Edward Marsee, of the University's physical planning division, pointed out that the lot, which can accommodate 5,000 vehicles, will be used for parking on only five occasions and will be closed to cars at all other times. He added that it would be used only during daylight hours and there would be no lights.

In granting its approval, the Planning board dictated several conditions involving proper roadways, widening of the entrance, construction of a sidewalk and adequate traffic control by the University. Mr. Morse said that the University is considering a closed loop bus service between Palmer Stadium and the parking lot.

QUOIT TOURNAMENT SET

For Next Friday. The Lawrence Township Recreation Commission will hold its annual doubles quoit tournament next Friday, August 13, at 7 p.m. at the Lawrenceville Firehouse quoit grounds.

Those desiring to participate should register with chairman Raymound Souders by 7 the night of the event at the quoit grounds or by calling Mr. Souders at 896-0243 or Joseph Jagodi, playground director, at 882-2537. Prizes will be awarded to winners.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Bernard)

This week let's clear up a couple of misconceptions concerning hair. We may, for example, find ourselves annoyed to the point where we speak of pulling someone's hair "out by the roots." This would be quite a chore for the simple reason that hair does not have roots . . .Contrary to belief, in some quarters that hair growth is a rather consistent half inch per month, the truth is that hair grows in relation to its diameter. Larger diameter hair will grow as much as three times as fast as hair of the smallest diameter and the rate of growth can be expected to fall between four and twelve inches per year with few exceptions.

Which reminds us, the policy at TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR & COSMETIC SHOP is to provide the finest in hair grooming and care of any type with no exceptions. LITTLEBROOK SCHOOL

Five bedrooms, fireplaced recreation room, and large 16 by 20' screened porch overlooking a sunny yard—these are just a few features of our new exclusive listing. For the large family, there is room and to spare. At least 3 bedrooms are extra large, the other 2 are comfortably generous in size. The kitchen, with its own large breakfast area, together with the paneled "2nd living room" lend themselves to informal family living; the vinyl floored entry hall, gracious living and dining rooms to more formal entertaining. Off the dining room, the spacious porch lends itself equally well to family dinners or informal summer get-togethers.

Built just over 5 years ago by a well known Princeton builder, the house is old enough to have a pleasant, lived-in homey look — with the extras such as storms and screens, established planting (including pines bordering 3 sides of the property) bought and paid for by the present owner. After this, a child-filled neighborhood, a pretty Township street and walking distance to school. Could you ask for more? At a price of only $49,500

MERCER ROAD . . . sixty years ago, if you were a merchant prince, or a railroad magnate, this is the kind of residence you would commission your architect to draw up plans for. The rooms, of course, had to be large — when you entertained the family, at Christmas, the table must be set for twenty. And the ceilings had to be high— after all, Summer in Princeton, you know . . . And you couldn't ask guests to go upstairs, so there must be a facility near the hall. And you had to have a library— a room all your own, where you could enjoy a cigar in peace and sprawl in that old leather chair you'd become used to. On the second floor — there must be four bedrooms and three baths. A third floor? Well, the youngsters could sleep and romp there. (Add 3 more bedrooms). Outdoors — a large lot had to be found, for you wanted your home to be well back from the road, with a spacious lawn and many shrubs and at least a score of shade trees . . . So . . . today . . . such a home is again available. For today's way of life, some improvements may be needed, perhaps, but, fundamentally, this old mansion is in excellent condition . . . and quite suitable for one of today's tycoons.

(Sole Agent) $79,500

OLD COLONIAL . . . in the beautiful Harbourton area, and ideal for commuting to Trenton. Completely modernized and decorated in excellent taste. 5 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. Here is a beautiful home at a very attractive price — all it needs is a post-and-rail fence along the road frontage to complete the illusion of privacy which many deem to be essential in country living.

(Sole Agent) $32,000

9 ROOM COLONIAL . . . with many fine old shade trees, it is located across the road from a beautiful golf course in one of Princeton's most charming nearby communities. 5 bedrooms, 2½ tile baths. Low taxes. School bus stops at door. This property has great potential — with some additional landscaping, it could become one of the truly notable properties in this area.

$37,500

NEW HOMES . . . now you may choose from only four of the beautiful new dwellings in one of Princeton's most desirable neighborhoods — the most luxurious property has been sold. Each stands on a spacious 2-acre plot, with city water, city sewer and all utilities, of course. All are large homes, three of traditional Colonial design. Prices start at $65,000. And the owner, fortunately, is in a position to offer much more liberal financing than is usually available for homes in this bracket.
